3 pm	Faerie Resilience: Reclaim Your Wonder Techniques for appreciation, bliss, health and whimsy. Faeries and the ancestors of humans had a lot in common. Come, let's talk about the possibilities of balance and pleasure in a world filled with concrete, junk food, traffic and cell phones.	Workshop Area Two

4 pm	Coyote's Ritual Adventures in the Desert With the end of summertime, and the start of the new school year, many pagan folks find that the holidays of Fall Equinox and Samhain represent "new year/new goals" types of energies (more so than January 1st!). Join Monika in a Druid ritual to honor these healing magics and to work with Coyote in preparing for the upcoming new year. We will create sacred space, journey to Coyote's desert, seek out "lost things" and leave behind our offerings of broken goals that no longer serve us. Aaaaoooooooooooo!	Workshop Area Two
5 pm	Closing Ritual with the Universal Temple of Spirits Join us as we round out the event by thanking Spirits who have accompanied us on our experiences through the day. The Universal Temple of Spirits is a celebratory group practicing in the Global Spirits tradition. It is a possession-based working. ## Tempered Raven

We at Tempered Raven believe a custom blade is more than a pretty display piece – it is a tool. Each piece we craft, regardless if hand-crafted or hand-forged, serves a purpose for its owner and much like any other tool, whether practical or ceremonial, it should be reliable and long lasting; an heirloom passed from one generation to the next. This is why we pour our sweat and tears (and sometimes blood) into each blade until they are hardened and tempered for use and abuse. Just because our blades are tools, doesn't mean they should not look beautiful, which is why we focus our attention on details like handle material, pins, stippling, or the trueness of each blade. Only by remaining dedicated to the purpose of each piece do we remain true to our craft.
